The purpose of this counseling is to formally welcome you to the unit, outline your basic roles and responsibilities as a Soldier, and clearly define my standards, expectations, and goals for your performance, conduct, and professional development.

PART III - SUMMARY OF COUNSELING

Complete this section during or immediately subsequent to counseling.

Key Points Discussion:Role and Scope: Your primary duty is to perform as an 11B Infantryman within A Co 1-120 IN. You are expected to learn, master, and perform your duties to standard with minimal supervision once trained.Mission First: You are expected to support the unit's mission at all times. This means maintaining 100% qualification in your primary duties and completing all assigned tasks to the best of your ability.Ancillary Training: You are responsible for monitoring and maintaining your individual readiness, including Army Learning Management System (ALMS) courses, Medical Readiness (MEDPROS), and additional duty training requirements.The "15 Minutes Prior" Rule: Timeliness is non-negotiable in the Army. The standard is to be formed, inspected, and ready to go 10 minutes prior to any scheduled formation or "time hack." If the formation is at 0630, you should be present at 0620.Accountability: If you are going to be late or cannot make a formation due to an emergency, you must contact me immediately prior to the scheduled time.Physical Readiness: Physical fitness is a fundamental requirement of being a Soldier. You must participate in all unit Physical Readiness Training (PRT) sessions with high motivation and intensity.Standards: You are expected to pass the Army Fitness Test (AFT) and maintain compliance with the Army Body Composition Program (ABCP) standards in accordance with AR 600-9.Self-Discipline: If you fail to meet fitness or body composition standards, it will immediately affect your opportunities for promotion, schools, and overall career advancement. It is your responsibility to maintain your physical readiness on and off duty.Uniform Standards: You will maintain clean, serviceable, and properly fitted uniforms at all times. Your boots will be clean, and your patches and rank insignia must be correctly placed.Grooming: You will remain in strict compliance with the grooming standards outlined in AR 670-1 (haircuts, shaving daily, fingernails,OTHER INSTRUCTIONSThis form will be destroyed upon: reassignment (other than rehabilitative transfers), separation at ETS, or upon retirement. jewelry). You are the face of the United States Army; represent it with pride.

Bearing: Conduct yourself in a professional manner at all times. Show composure, self-control, and respect to all Service Members, regardless of rank.

Customs and Courtesies: Always stand at the position of "Attention" when speaking to an Officer, and the position of "Parade Rest" when speaking to a Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO).

Chain of Command: Understand and utilize your Chain of Command. If you have an issue, complaint, or request, bring it to me first so we can work together to resolve it. Our leadership has an open-door policy, but it must be utilized respectfully and through the proper channels.

Safety First: Safety is paramount in everything we do, whether on duty or off duty. Always use the proper Technical Manuals (TMs), wear the required Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), and assign safety observers when performing hazardous tasks.

Off-Duty Conduct: Your conduct off duty reflects directly on the unit and the Army. Do not engage in activities that will compromise your health, safety, or military career.

Zero Tolerance: This command has a zero-tolerance policy for driving under the influence (DUI), drug abuse, sexual harassment/assault (SHARP), and domestic violence. One bad decision can end your military career.

Military Education: I expect you to pursue your professional military education (PME) as soon as you are eligible. Look for opportunities to attend schools (Airborne, Air Assault, Ranger, etc.) that will enhance your capabilities.

Civilian Education: I encourage you to use your Tuition Assistance (TA) or study during your off-duty hours to earn college credits or certifications.

Goal Setting: Within the next 30 days, I want you to write down three short-term goals (next 6 months) and two long-term goals (next 2–5 years) so we can discuss how to achieve them.

Plan of Action (Outlines actions that the subordinate will do after the counseling session to reach the agreed upon goal(s). The actions must be specific enough to modify or maintain the subordinate's behavior and include a specified time line for implementation and assessment (Part IV below).

Review Standards: Read and familiarize yourself with AR 670-1 (Wear and Appearance of Army Uniforms) and AR 600-9 (Army Body Composition Program) within 7 days of this counseling.

Punctuality: Arrive at least 10 minutes prior to all formations and daily work call times starting tomorrow.

Physical Fitness: Maintain a personal physical fitness regimen outside of unit PRT hours to ensure you are capable of scoring at least a 400 on the AFT.

Professional Goals: Draft your personal and professional goals (3 short-term, 2 long-term) and present them to me during our first monthly follow-up counseling in 30 days.

Integration: Check-in with the training room, supply, and medical readiness NCOs within the next 5 working days to ensure your records are 100% updated.

Session Closing: (The leader summarizes the key points of the session and checks if the subordinate understands the plan of action. The subordinate agrees / disagrees and provides remarks if appropriate.)
